

To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Andrea Shulman for your company. She worked for Johnson Controls over the summer of 2018 in our Boca Raton, FL office primarily with our Retail Solutions Team.

Andrea has a positive attitude and strong willingness to work. We had a few interns on this team. They were primarily responsible for further development of our Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) line of inventory solutions for retailers. The team was also afforded free time while awaiting their next assignment. With her free time, Andrea met with other teams, learned from their experiences and helped them with projects. One of those additional projects centered around utilizing facial recognition software that interfaces with our video solutions product lines. Her persistent motivation was admirable, and she helped the company in more ways than we anticipated.

By demonstrating her willingness to move around, Andrea conveyed her ability to learn quickly and work with people from varying backgrounds. She is confident and forward enough to get involved with different groups on her own.

I recommend Andrea without reservation. She proved to be exceptionally productive. Her ability to create connections with team members and their projects will be a benefit to your company. Feel free to reach out for any additional information regarding Andrea.

Sincerely,
